From the Chronicler

Greetings, one and all, and welcome again to The Blue Strand.

What a lively month in our fair barony! With missions already completed to Mundania, and court a regular event, we are quickly making a good impression on all.

November was a month that catered to any taste. There were tournaments, A&S companions, demonstrations and so much fun to be had. There were new faces around and some great events to watch.

This issue even has correspondence from you good folk, so without further ado, I give you issue two.

In Court - Events

Twilight Tournament the 7th, 1st round

The first twilight tournament of the season was a great success. This first event took us to the Far East. The caravan began in mysterious China, to start the long and perilous journey along the Silk Road.

Though it's been running for seven years, this year it has a new venue of the lemon scented lawns, still within Monash University.

During opening court, our Baron and Baroness were presented The Champions Sword, which Leif had brought all the way from Gotland. It will be awarded to the new Baronial Champion at the end of the series. Naturally, it was awarded to our current champion, Zhou Long Xi Khan Sheng.

We were also delighted to have the Crown Princess, Mistress Margie of Glen More pay us an unexpected visit and sit with our court.

The heavy tournament then proceeded as a war between the states and was very entertaining. It captured the audience's attention with the rapid pace of the combat. The format was as follows: Each fighter had two tokens. One was their army, the second them self. First they lost their army then if they lost again they became a vassal for another. Armies were quickly lost and the first to become a vassal was Casper. He became Zhou's vassal and was well used. In the end, however, it was Gib Forhyre who went on to win the whole night.

Along with the fighting, there were also A&S competitions for food, entertainment and an everyday item. The entries were varied; the food delicious and the entertainment captured the audience. For those who missed it, the entertainment was a most informative night about greed and, separately, about dragons.

The winners of the first night were
Gib Forhyre - Tournament
Lady Clara - Food
Leif Magnusson - Entertainment
Lady Magdalena - An Everyday item.

Paul de la Ville was awarded the Baronial award of Apollo Delphinus. A prestigious award, given to a most deserving person. Congratulations Paul.

Leif and our current champion Zhou, holding the Champion's sword.

Guards, Guards!

Our first Baronial rapier tournament was such a singular occasion that even the weather turned out beautifully for it.

It was a varied and entertaining list. With Don Everard Sefar, Leif Magnusson, Tobias le Tregetor, Miguel Rodriguez de Santiago, Cameron Mac Setna, Tracy of Capstone and Veronica Bellini all enthusiastic to join the city watch. All were hopeful candidates to become the New Captain of the city watch.

At first, the newly formed city watch were attempting to bring order and peace back to Krae Glas. This met with varying success.

The drunks and ruffians that patronise the Dubious Dolphin, were particular trouble. However, I am happy to report that thieves and gangs should beware of the city watch. The streets are safe from this danger again.

The city watch were sent back to boot camp, to ensure their skills were honed for future tussles with drunkards on our streets. They were very successful, with not one of them being booted out of camp.

Boot camp took the form of an auction tournament. The populace bid on their favourite fighter and if that fighter won, they got to choose which item they took home. Items donated included leather, ale, lace, ginger beer, mead, embroidered cuffs and a gorget. Through this we raised almost $200 for Mundania's city Watch. Which will be donated to the "Police Blue Ribbon Foundation".

Cameron Mac Setna was selected for the Baroness' choice, having fought very well in the lists.

It was announced that Tracy of Capstone became the New city watch Captain. A title he well deserved. He fought admirably and with honour. He was the clear winner of the day.

On a personal note, I was both honoured and surprised to be awarded the Baronial Endorsement. Descriptions of the awards and their meaning can be found later in this chronicle.

Missions to Mundania

Armageddon

On the 22nd of October we headed in to Armageddon at Jeff's Shed. We had a wonderful opportunity to wander around meeting SCAers from far afield, and not so far. Discovering the curious sights of geekdom on display for all. But that's enough of the fun and on with the work of a Rapier Tourney for the crowd.

Miguel, Connor, Mary, Baroness Ute and myself graced the field (of a wrestling ring), with Tobias marshalling the blur of blades and Leif faced the crowd armed only with his wit (and a microphone). There were many exchanges as individuals - and groups in Melees - faced off with sword, bucklers and walking sticks.

Written account by Yves de Lyle

All's fair in Time.

Timeline fair took place at the old cheese factory in Berwick. Generally it is a great place to showcase what we do, to Mundania, and this year was no exception.

We had varying examples of our art, including the much-loved illuminations and Tobias's juggling school. The activities were well received by the public.

Stormhold held their Monthly Bash in conjunction with our own barony, on the Sunday. This included a Heavy and, later, a rapier Tournament

The tournament was fought in a single kill/double elimination style and in the end Sir Brennan Halfhand won the day.

There were even two melees. One of which saw the Krae Glas fighters lined up against the Stormhold fighters. It was a momentous occasion for all who witnessed it.

Following the heavies, rapier took the field. The skill level of those taking the field was widely varied. From three Dons, all the way to those taking the field for the first time. All participants displayed a refined talent. The onlookers were most diverted.

Mundania was so impressed that there may even be a few who wish to cross the borders into Krae Gras.

Krae Glas Younglings

The ducking chair at Timeline fair was a great success; for the children, especially. It was such a perfect opportunity to cool down, that the queue to be ducked, was longer then the queue ducking them.

At the Guards, Guards! Event Elise of Krae Glas, Daughter of Leif Magnusson, had her wish granted. She wanted to dress as a princess and dance at the ball.

Elise certainly came dressed as a princess to the tournament. Theophilus heard of her request to dance and was more then happy to assist. Theophilus grabbed his flute and led several people in a dance around one edge of the list field.

Elise happily joined in and did exceptionally well in dancing.

Minutiae and Hearsay

Minutiae

New Officer

Congratulations to Martyn Fairchild of Grenhamerton, who will soon become Krae Glas' new Seneschal; a prestigious role. Given his ability as baronial herald, the populous are confident he will do as great a job in his new roll.

Thank you to Yves de Lyle who has served us well for the last two years. He has done an exceptional job.

Hearsay

Company of the Black Dolphin:

The populous of Krae Glas can now rest easy under the protection of the Company of the Black Dolphin. They are a newly recognised and officially sanctioned band of "Independent security contractors and collectors of diverse revenues".

Members of this colourful crew were recently seen in the vicinity of the Dodgy Dolphin, leaving shortly before the city guard were called on to quell a spate of brawls and gang fights.

Any rumours that the company were tipped off by the Constable are decidedly unfounded.
