

From The Chronicler

Greetings good gentles,

Welcome to the March edition of The Blue Strand. What a full month it has been! With another exciting round of the Summer Twilight Tournament Series, a new Baronial Award and- of course - Mini Moot, it has been a great month in our fair barony.

Festival also took place and by all reports was as much fun. Our own Baron and Baroness way faired there and send their greetings to all who stayed behind.

I must apologise for the tardiness of this issue. April 1st made a slight fool of me, by sneaking into the Easter break. However, as Mini Moot was mostly in March it had to go into this issue.

With this in mind I would like to present this pictograph of the dragon that was slain at Mini moot. Want to know more? Then please read on.

If you have any submissions for the April issue, please send them into kg.chronicler@gmail.com

And now, I give you, our busy month of March.

Mini Moot

Mini Moot felt relaxed and laid back this year. Though smaller in number than usual, it was as enjoyable as any Suth Moot. We began with a morning of set up and instruction. The wooden sticks came out, as Leif instructed people on basic rapier training.

Leif's Rapier 101

This was followed by an impressive afternoon of Rapier, Archery and A&S. The first round of the Baroness' Rapier tourney was fought. Jarek Blackthorn of Stormhold stood victorious with Leif in second place and Miguel in third. I'm sure Her Excellency would have been most

Ffride teaching the easy way to research pleased with the quality of the fighting shown.

There was also a lot of fun had doing Target Archery. Thorgrim the Dwarf won this event. He also went on to win most of the Archery for the weekend.

While the tournaments were happening, Ffride taught as all the easy way to do research, while sitting in the very social coffee shop. Thorfin taught Calligraphy in the feasting hall and brought an impressive collection of books for people to peruse.

The now traditional Eastern Evening of food, belly dancing, and games followed the night. The pot luck was a varied and impressive spread, with food for all tastes. The drums started and dancing followed. There were stories around the fire and the wonderful, relaxed night of friends in good company.

Mini Moot (Saturday)

Saturday dawned cool and cloudy, and stayed that way until bedtime.

There was meant to be a Heavy Tournament, however Thorgrim won by being the only Heavy able to fight on the weekend. He spent the time fighting actual blades to put a sharp edge on them.

The Princess Bride Rapier Tournament was fought. There was a field of four people, Miguel, Veronica, Brigid and Theophilous. All quoting the Princess Bride and challenging each other to various challenges, including the Iocain laced sword and to the pain. Miguel won the tournament. Veronica won an honourable mention for being able to quote entire sections of the movie.

Final round of the Princess Bride Tournament.

A big part of the Saturday was the Archery. Anyone could join in, as non-living targets were being shot. People brought their bows, or borrowed one and were seen wandering through the trees and across fields, shooting at the various target in the roving round.

The aim was to get the lowest score; this being the distance your arrow landed from the target. Again, Thorgrim was the most successful, coming first.

There was also a Hunt for the dreaded dragon. It had been terrorising Clifford park, and scaring hula hoops up trees. The Dragon was hunted down and felled with a rain of arrows. It's punctured hide was displayed in the Feasting hall, so all could tell of their mighty deeds.

Hula hoop hunting

As for the hula hoop, well that needed to be encouraged from the tree. Erin did shoot an arrow, with a line attached, to bring it down. But it took the encouragement of several younglings and a baron to finally coax it out of the tree.

On the A&S side of things, people were taught how to fletch arrows by Miguel, the Basics of Blackwork by Veronica, as well as wool carding, dyeing and spinning by Gwir.

The night ended with a wonderful Feast prepared by Iso-bel. It was a delicious meal, with dishes to satisfy the palate. The company was lovely and we celebrated the killing of the dragon.

Mini Moot (Sunday)

Sunday the overnight rain stopped before breakfast. It made a brief appearance during the Century Challenge, but this was only to cool the Rapier Hands testing themselves.

The day began with the Traditional Olde Brown Egg Hunt and continued with a new event in Archery. A Bunny shoot. The rules were you got to keep what you killed. There were a dozen chocolate rabbits, menacing the archery field and they had to be dealt with. The activity was aimed at the younglings who were slightly too old for the brown egg hunt. However, it drew almost the entire camp into the activity.

Rabbits exploded as blunts hit them. Some people had very clean shots. Officially the bag limit was one, so if you shot a rabbit you stopped. However, young Declan Blackthorn got two rabbits with one shot! It was so exceptional that he got to Century Challenges were fought again this year. This time it was rapier, and those who were challenging themselves were Miguel and Leif. They fought long and hard, honouring Gwynfor who started this Suth Moot tradition. Leif made it to his 100 rounds. Miguel made it to 110 with his extra 10 assisting Leif in his endeavour. Very well done both of you. Special mention to Elena, who took up the Rapier after many years of pacifism, to help these two get to 100. She challenged herself to 50 rounds and made it. Congratulations to all!

During the day we also learnt some interesting things. Gwion taught card games, and showed us some interesting decks of cards. Although they had 52 cards, some varied greatly. Especially the German ones, which had no Queen or Jack. Thorgrim held a class on making hinges for boxes, while period shoe pattern making took place in the coffee shop. There was also some great information from Isobel about thread type work, including using a lucet.

Gwir produced a very nice Tavern Feast for Sunday night. It set the tone for a relaxed night of games, music, dancing, storytelling and merriment.

Mini Moot (Monday)

Monday dawned, and though it had rained, the canvas was dry for the day.

The day was taken up with a camp-wide event of the Tri Tournament. There were three parts to the tournament. The archery, the boffer and the rapier. Each team had to have one member for each part of the activity.

Gwir & Leif showing off their beards.

The Archery was a Kings Round. People got six shots at the target, George. If they missed with all six, they were out. There were extra point for getting George in the head. It was a long battle, Coming down to Thorgrim and one of our newest members Ava. After several stale-mate rounds, Thorgrim won the round for this team, "Thor's Mighty Victory."

The tournament then moved on to the Boffer challenge. This was Elise LeifDottor's first tournament. In the very first round she faced Marcus, but was too shy. Erin came to her aid and Marcus defeated Erin. Leif then Came to Elise's aid and Marcus also beat Leif. It was decided that Marcus won the first round without ever touching Elise.

The tournament continued until it was Marcus and William in the final round. Marcus won the Boffer Tournament, also from the team "Thor's Mighty Victory."

The final for the tournament was a double elimination Rapier tournament. If you lost two rounds you were out. Miguel dominated this event, being unbeaten until the final round where Gwir managed to defeat him once. However, Miguel won the best of three and the Rapier tournament. His team "Caffeinated Chocoholics" were very happy. Overall the Tri-tournament was a huge success. With the "Caffinated Chocoholics" coming second and the victors of the day being the team "Thor's Mighty Victory." Members of the team were Thorgrim, Marcus and Veronica.

Learning card games.

Well done to all.

The entire weekend was a great success. Everyone who attended would like to give a very big thank you Baroness Nicolette. Without you, our not-so Mini Moot would not have come together so well. May your pennants fly and your canvas be always dry.

March 8th STTS, round 5 1400 -1500

The evening was warm and bright. The perfect evening to introduce newcomers to the sights and experiences of what the SCA do. After St Monica's O week, there were several new faces in the crowd.

There were rumours of war. Our Barony was not threatened. However, the great country of England was. The rumour was of a war to decide the King of England! We offered our services, and this month's tournament was to prepare for battle.

As such was had a Rose tournament. The winner would give the loser a rose, and direct to whom it should be given. There were many impressive fights and rounds. Some were the best of three rounds, Some were the first to 5 touches on their opponent. The fighters fought with weapons foreign to their own style, such as using a great sword for the first time. No doubt this was to prepare for losing their own weapon in the up coming battle, and needing to take up which ever convenient arms lay near by.

As the evening progressed, There were many roses throughout the crowd. One fighter stood out as the victor over all the others. Our champion of the night was Lucas.

It was a festive night, with meat and fresh bread to eat, cordials to drink and many fine foods to sample. The night included dancing and music and many entertainments. Of course, the entertainment was part of the competitions of the night. Gilligan won with his ballad.

The mustard Theophilus made was much celebrated. It was suggested that it was even better the Baroness Elspeth's. This was challenged on the field by baron Cormac. After losing this round, Theophilus was happy to concede that the Baroness's mustard was better. At the end of the night Theophilus' mustard won the food portion of the A&S competition.

There has also been a heraldry competition running for the entire Twilight series. Clemens entered her beautiful banner, and, fittingly, won.

It was a wonderful evening for all.

Etruscan Dolphin – A New Baronial Award.

The Barony has a new award! It is given to those who travel from other places to assist the Barony of Krae Glas. The award is a dolphin descending from a pearl. This inaugural award was given to Dante Caldiera and Clemens Gascoigne on the 15th of February 2013.

Their first task, after receiving the award, was to name it. They chose the Etruscan Dolphin. It is a very suitable name and we both congratulate them, and thank them for their work. Below is the heraldic explanation of the Award.

When the god Dionysus was captured by Etruscan pirates, they mistook him for a wealthy prince they could ransom. While at sea, Dionysus invoked his divine powers, causing vines to overgrow the ship where the mast and sails had been. He turned the oars into serpents, so terrifying the sailors that they jumped overboard. However, Dionysus took pity on them and transformed them into dolphins so they could travel afar and provide help for those in need.

As such the Etruscan Dolphin is given to those travel from afar to assist the Barony of Krae Glas.

Kingdom Law Changes

The proposed changes to Kingdom Law affecting the reporting schedule for officers were enacted by Their Majesties, Felix and Eva, at the River Haven Baronial Investiture on March 9.

The current version of Kingdom Law and the specific changes made can be found at <http://lochac.sca.org/laws/>.

In service,
Catherine de Arc
Lochac Seneschal

Updated and revamped Membership Services website

SCA Ltd (Australia) members have been directly advised via email that a replacement Membership Services website was launched early in March.

This change is the result of much planning and a great deal of work by Lord Nicodemus, assisted by others including Tiffany Brown (Mistress Teffania) on the behalf of the Board, Master Bartholomew who designed the current registry software, the Lochac Seneschal Mistress Catherine, the SCA NZ web server administrator and masonry member Master William de Cameron, and our tireless Registrar, Michelle McDonald (Mistress Caelia).

The new site closely resembles its predecessor but is completely different behind the scenes. It has some new and improved features such as the ability to print temporary cards when you take out a membership or renewal, easier multiple renewals (e.g. for families) and the ability to change your password to one of your own choice. If you choose to do the latter, PLEASE exercise good password security -- for example: do not re-use the same password on lots of different websites.

In general, it looks and works just like the website you already know -- you can access it via the usual address <http://lochac.sca.org/members.html> and log in with your usual information.

If you have any suggestions, questions or concerns, by all means raise them on the Shambles if they are general in nature, or contact the Registrar if they are sensitive, e.g. relating to your personal membership record.

Hearsay

Key members of the seafaring entrepreneurs known as the Company of the Black Dolphin have recently been seen locked in a long and furious battle, occasionally calling on unaffiliated mercenaries to take their place as they rest and tend their wounds.

What this presages, we can only guess. This writer will not presume to know the inner workings of this secrecy-shrouded bunch.

Summer Twilight Tournament Series—round 6

STTS 6: 1500-1600 - Renaissance theme

12th April 2013 6pm on

Location: Central 1 Lecture Theatre Foyer and lawn, Monash University, Clayton Campus

Fighters are always happy to fight, therefore I strongly encourage you all to invest your energies into the non-martial aspects of the series: the heraldry and pageantry, the entertainment - singing, dancing, music, poetry, the food and drink. You can also use this as inspiration to create something new as a part of a submission into the A&S competition. The opportunity to do a demonstration rapier tourney in the final STTS (being a renaissance theme) is also open for discussion.

We would also encourage you all to bring along games, such as boules/petanque etc and whatever other activities you think might engage the newcomers and demonstrate what the SCA does.

If you're interested in the A&S competition ideas, see below to start getting you thinking and planning and making!

A&S heraldry theme (ongoing throughout the series): Pageantry, pageantry, pageantry. Get your names and devices registered! Or just make some lovely heraldic things for the College or the Barony!

Price: Members $5, non-members $10 (as per all Craffhalls)

Theme: Wool Spinning and Carding day. Mistress Gwir brought along to mini moot her spinning wheel, and carding apparatus and showed us how it was done, and we felt it would be nice to bring along to Craffhall and have a go again.

However! If you own a spinning wheel, and haven't spun in a while - bring it along, and we will hold a Spinning class - medieval style!

You are always welcome to bring along your own projects and work on those - the hall we use is big enough for multiple projects.

Plans for future Craffhalls -

Leading on from spinning the wool, we are looking at holding some of the following in the coming months

* Dye workshop. Create period dyes from scratch. Mistress Gwir run a smaller version of this at mini moot and are looking to see if we can do some more at Craffhall.

* Early period footwear (two parts, first making the pattern, the second cutting the leather and stitching) Andrea from another re-enactment group showed us how to create patterns for period footwear. We have invited her back to complete the workshop later this year. Keep your eyes out for these sessions. Note - one of them may be on a Sunday.

* Table games - dice and card games - one for the rainier days in Winter. What better way to spend the afternoon than in front of the open fire playing period games.

If you have any ideas for projects or activities, then please let The seneschal or our Arts and Sciences officer know. We have room, we have skilled people, so lets get those skills out there.
